We must refer in forms of enlogy to the high tone antivaried excellence of Hamrau's Maoazine—a journal with a monthly circulation of about 170,00 copies—in whose pages are to be found some of the choicest light and general reading of the day. We speak of this work as an evidence of the culture of the American people; and the popularity it has acquired is neitled. Each number contains fully 14 pages of reading-matter, appropriately illustrated with good wood-cuts; and it continues in itself the racy monthly and the more philosophical quarterly, blended with the best features of the daily journal. It has great power in the dissemination of a love of pare literature.—Tausnets, Guide To American Iterature.—Tausnets, Guide To American Iterature, by the
